(Chadron)-The University of Nebraska Public Policy Center along with NET Television are sponsoring a statewide summit on depression next week, and Chadron will be one of four videoconferencing sites across the state to host satellite locations.

The summit, entitled Growing Success: A Statewide Community Summit and Appreciative Inquiry on Effectively Treating Depression, is part of a national PBS initiative on Depression: Out of the Shadows, and will run from 8 a.m. until noon mountain time on Thursday, June 19. It is designed to help create pathways to the successful treatment of depression.

Keynote speaker for the summit will be Nebraska native Dick Cavett, and a panel of local experts and depression survivors will also participate. The Burkheiser Complex at Chadron State College will be the location for the local site, and pre-registration is not required.
